

Job Description

This form summarises the purpose of the job and lists its key tasks. It is not a definitive list of all the tasks to be undertaken as those can be varied from time to time at the discretion of the School, in consultation with the postholder. The description of the duties and responsibilities reflect the post at the time it was drawn up, the details of which may change over time without changing the general character and purpose of the post or the level of responsibility encompassed.

Job title: Professor of Public Law

Department: Law

Accountable to: Dean of the Law School

Job Summary

Based in the Law School, the post holder will contribute to the intellectual life of the Law School and the LSE through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research in the field of Public Law, engaging in high quality teaching in the Law School, taking a leadership role in Public Law in the Law School and participating in the School and wider Departmental activities.

The post holder will hold the prestigious LSE Chair in Public Law, one of the prestigious Chairs in the UK academy.

Range of Academic Activities and Responsibilities at Professor Level at LSE

Note: The relative balance of activities in research, teaching and administration may vary across departments, and is also likely to vary for any particular individual over the course of their career.

Research

- Conducting substantive and original research into complex problems, ideas, concepts or theories and applying appropriate methodologies.
- Developing and carrying forward a coherent research strategy in their discipline which achieves public recognition and a sustained national and international impact.
- Publishing work of outstanding quality and significance to the discipline.
- Planning and directing research activities and programmes of outstanding quality and international significance.
- Leading major peer reviewed funding bids for research programmes in the specialist area.
- Establishing/Directing/Co-Directing Research Centres and leading the activities of teams within Research Centres.
- Contributing to the development of Law School and LSE research strategy.
- Leading and participating in national and international committees - e.g. REF panels, Research Funding bodies, European Commission committees etc.
- Leading scholarly initiatives in the discipline.
- Membership of boards of international journals and other bodies related to the discipline Providing expert opinion and commentary to external audiences and bodies.

- Providing advice to government bodies.

Teaching

- Teaching and examining undergraduate and masters level students in core subjects and in own specialism to a high standard.
- Acting as academic advisor and providing pastoral care.
- Supervising and examining PhD students.
- Contributing to and monitoring the enhancement of quality in teaching within the Law School and ensuring that teaching delivery across the Law School is consistent with best practice.
- Developing innovative and attractive courses, shaping and influencing curriculum development and actively contributing to the review of courses in accordance with Law School's strategy.
- Acting as a role model for teaching methods through excellent practice.

Activities relating to departmental /School management and administration

- Fostering collegiality and fulfilling responsibilities as set out by the Dean of the Law School and other senior colleagues.
- Leading strategic management development in the Law School and the LSE.
- Assuming senior academic office holding positions.
- Contributing to professorial decision taking on candidates for promotion, review and additional incrementation.
- Being willing to assume the role of Dean or Associate Dean of the Law School for a specified period.
- Participating in professorial committees e.g. the Promotions Committee, the Appointments Committee and the Department Heads Forum.
- Contributing to the development and performance of colleagues through coaching, mentoring and peer support.
- Giving leadership to academic recruitment campaigns and Law School hiring search committees.
- Engaging with external institutions, organisations and the wider community to support research, teaching and other LSE strategic objectives.

When acting as Head of Department (Dean of the Law School)

- Taking responsibility for the appointment procedures, promotion proposals and development and management of all staff within the department.
- Taking responsibility for major processes in the Law School e.g. forward planning, financial management, teaching and teaching quality, research quality and admissions.
- Preparing key Law School review documents for internal and external consumption e.g. for various School financial reviews, the departmental development plan and the annual report to the LSE's Director.
- Taking decisions on course provision in line with strategy.

Activities relating to the discipline, academic and professional body

- Participation and occasional leadership roles in national and international professional bodies and other initiatives concerned with promoting the interests of the social sciences or a particular discipline.

Flexibility

To deliver services effectively, a degree of flexibility is needed, and the post holder may be required to perform work not specifically referred to above.

Equality and Diversity

LSE believes that equality for all is a basic human right. All posts (and post holders) will seek to ensure diversity and inclusion, while opposing all forms of unlawful and unfair discrimination on the grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, nationality, ethnic or national origin, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

Ethics Code

Posts (and post holders) are assumed to have a responsibility to act in accordance with the School's Ethics Code and to promote the principles and values that the Code enshrines. The Ethics Code clearly states that the whole LSE community, including all staff, students, and governors of LSE, are expected to act in accordance with the principles which are set out in the LSE's Ethics Code. As such you are required to read and familiarise yourself with the Ethics Code.

Environmental Sustainability

The post holder is required to minimise environmental impact in the performance of the role, and actively contribute to the delivery of the LSE Environmental Policy.