

Person Specification

This form lists the essential and desirable requirements needed in order to do the job.

Applicants will be shortlisted solely on the extent to which they meet these requirements.

Job title: LSE Fellow in Media and Communications

Department: Media and Communications

Accountable to: Head of Department

Competency	E/D
Completed PhD in Media and Communications or closely related discipline/field (PhD in hand without revisions pending by date of application).	E
Evidence of teaching experience at graduate level.	E
Interest in contributing to teaching methods of research in Media and Communications.	E
Experience of teaching Media and Communication theories from a critical and international perspective.	E
A developing research record in in the field of Media and Communications with evidence of a commitment to critically assessing theories and empirical research.	E
Excellent communication and presentation skills.	E
A demonstrable commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion within teaching practice.	E
Experience of Media and Communications teaching and research from a critical perspective, including on topics relating to China and the institutional arrangements of global media and communications industries.	E
Experience of teaching online via video conferencing platforms (e.g., Zoom).	D
Experience of supervising graduate (master's) dissertations.	D

Evidence of a commitment to high quality, innovative teaching and fostering a positive and supportive learning environment with students.	D
The ability to work in close partnership with fellow teachers, including on a one-on-one basis and in small groups, and to provide effective support, as necessary.	D
Experience of managing and contributing to course virtual learning environments (e.g. Moodle).	D
Experience in carrying out course management and administration.	D
Experience in teaching quantitative methods	D
A developing research record including (but not limited to) topics relating to China; race and racism; refugees; and / or migration.	D

E – Essential: requirements without which the job could not be done.

D – Desirable: requirements that would enable the candidate to perform the job well.