

Person Specification

This form lists the essential and desirable requirements needed in order to do the job.

Applicants will be shortlisted solely on the extent to which they meet these requirements.

Job title: LSE Fellow in Gender and International Politics
Department: Department of Gender Studies	Accountable to: Head of Department

Competency	E/D
A completed PhD at the time of application in social sciences, humanities or an area otherwise related to the teaching needs of the post.	E
Excellent knowledge of interdisciplinary gender scholarship with expertise in any of the following areas: gender and international politics; gender and international relations, law and policy; or, gender and militarisation and/or peace and conflict. In addition, knowledge of the following is essential: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Anti-colonial, anti-imperial, and decolonial approaches to Gender Studies</li> <li>• Black feminist and intersectional epistemologies and methodologies</li> <li>• Transnational feminist theories and methodologies</li> </ul>	E
A developing research record in interdisciplinary gender studies in the areas of international politics and related areas of feminist approaches to international relations, international law, policy, security and militarisation.	E
Excellent communication and presentation skills.	E
The ability to work in close partnership with academic and professional services staff, including on a one-on-one basis, and to provide effective support, as necessary.	E
Foster an engaging and supportive learning environment.	E
A commitment to equality and diversity.	E
Relevant postgraduate teaching experience, including supervising postgraduate dissertations.	D
Experience of managing and contributing to course virtual learning environments (e.g. Moodle).	D
Experience in carrying out course administration.	D

E – Essential: requirements without which the job could not be done.

D – Desirable: requirements that would enable the candidate to perform the job well.