

Person Specification

This form lists the essential and desirable requirements needed in order to do the job.

Applicants will be shortlisted solely on the extent to which they meet these requirements.

Job title: LSE Fellow in Gender and Security

Department/Division: Gender Studies

Accountable to: Head of Department

Competency	E/D
Completed or close to completing a PhD in social sciences, humanities or related subject or a closely related subject, by the post start date.	E
A very good knowledge and developing research record of gender and security with a focus on one or more of the following: theorising policy and practice relating to the women, peace and security agenda; gender and peace making , conflict resolution, peace building and post-conflict reconstruction; human rights, international law and transitional justice; countering violent extremism, securitisation; political economy approaches to violence; sexuality, embodiment and war; critical military studies; the humanitarian and aid industry or other related fields.	E
Excellent communication and presentation skills	E
The ability to work in close partnership with fellow teachers, including on a one-on-one basis and in small groups, and to provide effective support, as necessary	E
Foster an engaging and supportive learning environment	E
A commitment to equality and diversity	E
Demonstrable teaching experience in gender studies and areas within the Women, Peace and Security agenda	D
Relevant teaching experience at graduate level	D
Experience of managing and contributing to course virtual learning environments (e.g. Moodle)	D
Experience in carrying out course administration	D

E – Essential: requirements without which the job could not be done.

D – Desirable: requirements that would enable the candidate to perform the job well.