

Job Description

This form summarises the purpose of the job and lists its key tasks. It is not a definitive list of all the tasks to be undertaken as those can be varied from time to time at the discretion of the School, in consultation with the postholder.

Job title: LSE Fellow (Band 6)

Department/Division: Geography and Environment Accountable to: Head of Department

Job Summary:

- To contribute to the administrative and teaching duties of the Department, particularly in the delivery of the BSc Geography with Economics and MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance. To undertake your own research programme and to contribute to the Department's research seminars & meetings.

Duties and Responsibilities

Contributing to the scholarship and intellectual life of the School by conducting teaching and research which will enhance the School's reputation as a research-led teaching institution, with appropriate mentoring from department.

Supervising, teaching and examining undergraduate and masters level students through lectures, seminars, course work and tutorials.

The range of teaching duties may change from time to time but the Fellow will contribute to some or all of the following areas:

- i. teaching international trade at undergraduate level on the BSc Geography with Economics
- ii. teaching urban economics at undergraduate level on the BSc Geography with Economics and at MSc level on the MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance.
- iii. supervising project work on the MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance (including dissertation supervision)

Identifying learning needs of students; helping to define learning objectives and to provide appropriate support.

Acting as academic advisor to students allocated by the Head of Department or the Head of the Economic Geography cluster and providing pastoral care.

Supervising end of year dissertation (if required), participating in dissertation workshops throughout the year and referring supervisees to expert advisors where appropriate.

Holding regular office hours for students on the course.

Providing formative and summative feedback on assessments.

Undertaking examination-related duties, such as exam and dissertation marking, as required.

Participating in regular teaching meetings, with academics and administrators involved in the courses/programmes, with appropriate mentoring.

Managing academic administration arising from teaching responsibilities – e.g. class preparation and marking, with guidance as required.

Undertaking your own research programme and contributing to Departmental research seminars/meetings

Note

The LSE has a progressive pay structure that rewards you with annual pay increases up to a certain level as you develop in your role. We also provide for further reward past this point in the form of further pay increases based on exceptional performance.

Flexibility

To deliver services effectively, a degree of flexibility is needed, and the post holder may be required to perform work not specifically referred to above.

Equality and Diversity

LSE believes that equality for all is a basic human right. We actively encourage diversity and inclusion, while opposing all forms of unlawful and unfair discrimination on the grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

Environmental Sustainability

The post holder is required to minimise environmental impact in the performance of the role, and actively contribute to the delivery of the LSE Environmental Policy.