

Person Specification

This form lists the essential and desirable requirements needed in order to do the job.

Applicants will be shortlisted solely on the extent to which they meet these requirements.

Job title: Research Fellow in International Social and Public Policy

Department/Division: Social Policy

Accountable to: Co-Director, LSE-Fudan Institute for Global Public Policy

Competency	E/D
Completed, or demonstrably close to completing (by the post start date), a PhD in a relevant social science field, with research expertise in topics that fit within international social and public policy, broadly defined.	E
A very good knowledge of the application of social science to policy-making.	E
A developing research record in empirical social science related to public policy that incorporates global or comparative perspectives.	E
Research interest that applies to the study of China and/or China and the world	D
A willingness to work collaboratively across departments of LSE and with partner institutions to promote research collaborations.	E
Excellent communication and presentation skills	E
Relevant teaching experience and ability to foster an engaging and supportive learning environment.	D
A commitment to supporting and enhancing the student experience within the Department of Social Policy	E
A commitment to equality and diversity	E
An ability to teach courses related to the candidate's research expertise in international social and public policy	D

E – Essential: requirements without which the job could not be done.

D – Desirable: requirements that would enable the candidate to perform the job well.